Download

Fast Uninstaller is a lightweight software solution developed to help users remove installed applications from their systems. Although it provides almost the same basic features as the standard “Add/Remove Programs” utility available by default in Windows, Fast Uninstaller can prove to be a very handy tool in case your computer got infected by a virus. Simple looks It doesn't require any advanced computer knowledge because it all comes down to a simple window displaying the installed software. Basically, it's enough to select any of the displayed items and hit the uninstall button. Basic uninstallation operations While Fast Uninstaller promises to clean all files of the installed apps, including shortcuts and registry entries, all it does is to launch the program uninstaller and perform a simple removal. It doesn't scan the system for leftovers, so the cleaning process is again very basic. Another problem is that the main and the only window cannot be resized, which is quite a problem in case you have plenty of apps installed. Performance On the good side however, Fast Uninstaller needs just a second to start the uninstall process and remains very light on hardware resources all the time. Of course, administrator privileges are needed on Windows 7 workstations.

Bottom line To sum up, Fast Uninstaller is indeed a handy project, but it clearly needs a lot of improvements. At this moment, it does exactly the same thing as the standard program uninstaller included in Windows, with no advanced features to scan the system for leftovers. Fast Uninstaller does exactly the same thing as Windows Add/Remove

Programs, but faster. It will clean up all left-over files from the program. It requires administrative rights. It has a list of applications you can uninstall. Fast Uninstaller is free, but does not have the option to remove the program by itself, it will only remove the leftovers from the program. How to remove Fast Uninstaller program? 1. Click Start and Run, then type CMD in the search. 2. In the window that appears, type "CD /D " in the text field at the top and press ENTER key. 3. In the next window, type "Y" in the text field at the top. This will confirm that you want to delete the folder. 4. In the next window, type "Y" in the text field web, so you can save it on your computer or share it with other computer users. Uninstall fast uninstaller Microsoft Windows 7 and other operating systems. Towards the end of our short, but winding, journey, we need to look into how to uninstall a program from a PC. This is done by opening the ‘Add or remove Programs’ section of the Control Panel. When the box opens, you will be presented with a list of your installed programs. A big icon next to the program name will indicate whether or not the program is a 'required' program or whether it is a 'recommended' program. If the program is recommended, it usually means that you really should not uninstall it, because you will be left with a lot of unconfigured programs. How to uninstall a program The following steps will show you how to uninstall a program. 1.

Click 'start', and type in 'control panel'. This will open the control panel window. 2.

Click ‘add or remove’, and select ‘applications’. This will open the Applications folder.

3. Sort through the applications and pick the one that you want to uninstall. For most applications, if you click on the program icon it will give you the option to uninstall it. 4. If this is not the case, click on the ‘control panel’ icon, and select ‘applications’. From here you can select and uninstall the program.

At this moment, it does exactly the same thing as the standard program uninstaller included in Windows, with no advanced features to scan the system for leftovers. Is there anything else that can be done about the above problem? A: A likely explanation for the very small window size is that the software is not actually 'uninstalling' the program, but 'killing' the program. A program that is in the process of being uninstalled may attempt to perform actions after being uninstalled, such as store/access data, which will cause the program to hang until that action completes. You may be able to change your settings in the Control

Panel to prevent this from occurring. A: Fast Uninstaller is a really handy program, but I've found that sometimes it does not finish the uninstall. I assume that when it is not actually uninstalling the program, it is in the process of 'killing' it. I found that when this happens, I can usually get a list of all programs that have been killed and the process with Task Manager, and then I can remove all of those files. I hope this helps someone out
